

Ron Shore, MPA, PhD

Bio

Ron Shore, PhD, is a Research Scientist with Queen's Health Sciences and a post-doctoral fellow in Public Health Sciences at Queen's University in Kingston Ontario. Over a 16-year period, Ron taught drug studies, psychedelics and public policy at Queen's University and the University of Ottawa. Ron is the founder of Kingston's Street Health Centre and spent 23 years in front line harm reduction and public/community health, starting as a prison outreach and needle exchange worker in 1991. Ron's research interests include the clinical application of psilocybin, psychedelics trial design, best practices in psychedelic therapy, drug policy, harm reduction, knowledge synthesis and science education.